

Take the Leadership Challenge!

“Being a good leader starts with having confidence in yourself”

Karate kids know that being a good leader also means listening to other people’s points of view. The best leaders know how to work as a team to accomplish a goal. They inspire other people because they are honest, trustworthy, and humble. A good leader doesn’t boss other people around; they take time to listen to other ideas and support their teammates.

Describe one time when you used leadership either in your karate class, at home or at school.
